

Hen first I saw fair Do-ris eyes, cheering like rising day our plains.

not envying others wealthier flocks, I thought my selfe the happiest swain.

The Lady Deering
Composing.

(2)

More blessed yet when my rude eare
Heard her harmonious numbers flow,
No more a swain, I felt the joyes
Only victorious Princes know.

(3)

Since which alowd, on thy free lip
To story out my hopes, and love,
Immortall grown, I held aloft
The mansion of dethroned love.

(4)

But when rul'd by kinder starres,
Thy namelesse troubles crown my paine,
