Explorando los laberintos de mi mente, encontré sonidos organizados de la forma como lo muestro en Fractales del Viento.

En este caso, el ser humano no inventa la expresión fractal, sino que la descubre en su propia naturaleza.

Así, influenciada por el conjunto de Mandelbrot y otras fórmulas basadas en la ciencia por Ernst Cladni, Georg Cantor entre otros, también imágenes como las creadas por Philip Alden Benn, música fractal como la del compositor Dmitry Kormann, inspirada en teóricos como Gioseffo Zarlino, Jean Philippe Rameau, Arnold Schoenber; la historia de la humanidad ha dejado claro que, desde antes del maestro Pitágoras y luego del maestro Bach, la música es y seguirá siendo una ciencia del arte musical, expresada por ese misterio evidente que da magia a la vida e impulso al ser humano.
