

All Coiled Down (So Long)

(Sea Song)

All coiled down and it's time for us to go,
Every sail's furled in a neat, harbour stow,
Another ship for us and for her another crew,
So-long sailorman, good luck to you.

A good berth I wish you in a ship well-found,
With a decent crowd for'd and her gear all sound,
Spars a man can trust when it's comin' on to blow,
And no Bos'n bawlin' when it's your watch below.

Fun and friends I wish you 'til the pay's all gone,
Pleasure while you spend it and contentment when it's done,
A chest that's never empty when you go back to sea,
And a b

With neither fog nor iceberg, nor long calm, nor squall,
A pleasant port to come to, when the work's all through,
So-long sailorman, good luck to you.

All Coiled Down (So Long) - A shanty like an Irish blessing. It is time to say goodbye to the comrades with whom one has survived a hard voyage. May the next ship be better than this one, the captain friendlier and the boatswain fair. May the wages be not depleted and the money be spent for satisfying purposes. Then at the end, a calm harbor shall be found and good friends for the old age!
