

The Worst Old Ship

Pump Shanty

Chorus

The worst old ship that ever did sail,
Sailed out of Harwich on a windy day.

And we're waiting for the day, waiting for the day,
Waiting for the day that we get our pay.

Nothing in the galley, nothing in the hold,
But the skipper's turned in with a bag of gold.

Off Orford Ness she sprang a leak,
Hear her poor old timbers creak.

We pumped our way round Scalby Ness,
When the wind backed round to the west-nor'-west.

Into the Humber and up the town,
Pump you blighters – pump or drown.

(Pump Shanty) The Worst Old Ship - as the name suggests, the worst ship on all waters. A barge eaten by piddocks. It is so old that it seems to date back to Roman times. It can only be saved from sinking by constant pumping. Pump for your lives, boys!

The journey goes from Harwich to Grimsby. Will this be the final voyage?
