

Colin McKellar

The peice shoud be played with vigour, and stormy petulence

Colin McKellar

This piece is the result of reworking an earlier piece "Golf Requiem", working through it, a concept of linear chord morphs.

Measures 1-3 of the musical score. The treble clef staff features a 'Rolling movement' starting with a series of ascending eighth notes, marked 'agitated' and 'f'. The bass clef staff provides a harmonic accompaniment with chords and moving lines.

Measures 4-5 of the musical score. Measure 4 contains a complex triplet pattern in the treble clef. Measure 5 continues the melodic and harmonic development.

Measures 6-8 of the musical score. A central orange oval overlay contains the text 'musicalion' and 'click for more'. The musical notation continues on either side of the overlay.

Measures 9-10 of the musical score. Measure 9 features a triplet in the treble clef. Measure 10 continues the melodic line with a descending eighth-note pattern.

Measures 11-12 of the musical score. Measure 11 features a triplet in the bass clef. Measure 12 concludes the section with a final chord in the treble clef.

The image displays a piano score across six systems of staves, numbered 25 to 39. The notation includes various musical symbols such as treble and bass clefs, key signatures (one flat), time signatures, and dynamic markings like mp, f, and sketchily mp. Performance instructions such as 'determined' and 'thematically' are present. A large, semi-transparent orange watermark with the text 'musicalion' and 'click for more' is centered over the middle of the page, partially obscuring the musical notation.
